Feeding and Crop Production Schools for Two Days Here

Farmers from neighboring vicinity attend sessions in village hall sponsored by Farm Bureau — Learn much on feeding—Cornell specialists speak.

Feeding and feeding crop production problems were discussed by farmers of this vicinity in a two day session just concluded in the Addison Village Hall. The school was sponsored by the Steuben County Farm Bureau in a cooperation with the New York State College of Agriculture Departments of Animal Husbandry and Agronomy.

The session here was in charge of Lynn Bookout of the Farm Bureau office, with Bradley Gormel an extension specialist in Animal Husbandry and Professor Van Alstyne of the State College at Cornell.

The importance of home grown feeds was stressed in the opening sessions Tuesday with emphasis on hay, silage, and pasture and their importance in supplying nutrients for good cows. There was a discussion of seed prices, changes in seed mixtures based on present prices and the proper methods of seed bed preparation.

The afternoon session Tuesday was given over to a discussion of an abundance of high quality roughage in the ration. The speakers emphasized the importance of quality hay and other roughages as factors in getting cows to consume large amounts of hay and a maximum of home-grown nutrients. The importance of hay in supplying bulk, minerals and vitamins was emphasized.

The production of good hay depends upon several factors in the opinion of the speakers and such factors as seed mixture, fertilizer, time of cutting and success in curing all play important parts.

Most of Wednesday's sessions were given over to pasture improvement and management, discussions. All phases of pasture problems were discussed such as improvement of existing permanent pastures, seeding permanent pastures, pasture management, methods of supplementing permanent pastures during the summer.

Maintaining production and condition of cows on pasture came in for considerable discussion with the result that the men present discussed sed summer feeding of the milking herd. And silage and hay as pasture supplements were advocated. Emphasis was also placed on the conditioning of cows during the dry period.

Wednesday afternoon sessions were devoted to feed crop rotations feed grain mixtures to suit available roughage and a summary of the whole school program. Points covered in talks were: Amount of lime and fertilizer needed for rotation and when it shall be applied comparative value of the different feed crops and their place in rotation, proper handling of farm manure and the effect of different legumes on crops.

Grain mixtures, that is home grown grains, were used as a basis for suitable feed with roughage combinations. The final subject was devoted to factors farmers should consider in buying feeds economically.

No Lenten Services in St. Catherine's This Week

There will be no Lenten services in St. Catherine's Catholic Church this week according to an announcement of the Rev. Patrick Kelly, pastor. The heating system of the church has been out of order for the past three weeks and it will be difficult to conduct the services in the large auditorium of the building. It is not known how long the system will be out of order as it has been difficult to get parts for the system, which was frozen two weeks ago and broke in several places.

Hugh McDevitt Died Friday—Funeral Mon.

One of the most highly respected citizens of this community passed into the great beyond Friday afternoon, February 2, 1940 in the death of Hugh McDevitt, South street. News of his death spread rapidly throughout the village Friday afternoon. Many did not know he had been ill at his home of gripe and complications. He had been in ill health for several months but his illness was not regarded as serious. Hence the news of his death came as a shock.

Mr. McDevitt was born March 27, 1867 in the town of Tuscarora. His parents were the late Edward and Sarah McTamney McDevitt. His early education was received in the district school in Tuscarora and from the Addison High School from which he was graduated in 1888. He entered the Elmira Business School and was graduated in the year 1889.

Upon completion of his schooling he returned to the farm of his parents and which he managed for 24 years. Upon retirement, from the farm he came to Addison and has since lived here. During his life in Tuscarora he served as supervisor and was a member of the election board there for many years.

Upon moving to Addison in 1916 he became interested in local politics and served as election inspector for 20 years, declining in the past few years because of his health. Mr. McDevitt was also a member of St. Catherine's Catholic Church and at one time was a member of Corning Council Knights of Columbus.

Mr. McDevitt married Miss Nell O'Connell on September 20, 1920 in St. Catherine's Church. She survives him with a sister, Mrs. John McCann of Corning and two cousins, Mrs. Rose Sheehan and Mrs. James Edwards of Addison.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9 o'clock in St. Catherine's Church with the Rev. Patrick Kelly, pastor in charge. Bearers were John M. O'Keefe, John Coleman, Walter M. Goff, Henry Sherwood, Thomas Kane, Sr. and Timothy C. Tobin. Interment was made in St. Catherine's Cemetery.

John V. Ax-tell.

Bath Bar Group Against Court Power

Resolutions opposing passage of legislation which would give more power to County Courts in the seventh Judicial System, were approved by the Bath Bar Association at a regular meeting held last week. Legislation discussed included that which would take from Supreme Court authority in first degree murder cases and also place in County Court the jurisdiction over civil cases involving sums up to $10,000. The Bath association disapproves transfer of Certain Proceedings from Supreme Court to the State Tax Commission's Department which would prevent courts from reviewing tax matters.

No action was taken in regard to the renewal of official referee system, as abolished recently.

Want New Fire Truck—Village Board Notes

Village Board members received a petition for a new fire truck at their meeting Monday night. The petition was signed by 67 taxpayers of the village of Addison and so the proposition will be submitted to the voters at the March election. The petition asked that the Village Board purchase a new truck at a cost not to exceed $4500. Fifty names on a petition means that the proposition must be submitted to the voters. Board members will consult with Village Attorney Charles M. Salerno as to the manner of voting. The petition was circulated by members of the first department. Board members feel that with the present increase in taxes throughout the village, county and state that this is not a good time for such a petition to be presented.

The village election will be held Tuesday, March 19 from one to five P. M. It was decided at a meeting of the Village Fathers. At that time the village voters will choose a trustee to take the place of the late Fred Clark and also the place of Russell Allen, whose term expires April 1.

Minor repairs will be made to the village hall and lockup. The local men used chemicals on the fire and saved the tank.

Overflow oil flowed down over the tank and in front of the muffler and caused the blaze. On instruction from his home office in Olean, the driver dumped part of his load outside the village and went on his way.

January Exceeds Six-Year Mark In Library

More books were borrowed from the Addison Public Library in the month of January of this year than in any month since March, 1933 according to Mrs. Susan D. Perry, public librarian. There were over 2100 books borrowed. Fiction led the list in the borrowings, although there was a great increase in the non-fiction borrowing list. The library is a busy place when open and a constant stream of adults and children may be seen using the facilities of the building. Mrs. Perry does not know what to attribute the increase to at this time. She states that unemployment usually raises the borrowing of books in the library but there was nothing of this sort in January and no new books of popular demand were purchased during that month.

Owing to her linguistic ability, her knowledge of history and the political implications of movements in Europe, she has been able to keenly analyze the present in its relationship to the past and predict some of the things which can be expected from the chancelleries in Europe.

HENRY'S BIG GIFT

Members of the Courier staff over in Bath were surprised the other day by the visit of a little boy to the newspaper office. Henry Hille, the small lad, inquired if they were receiving contributions to help the poor Finns. Assured of the fact Henry handed over a little box inscribed with the legend "Birthday". There were eighty pennies in the box and little Henry wanted them to go for feeding and clothing the poor Finns.

From the Scriptures we learn of the widow's mite and the cruse of oil poured out in sacrificial giving. When a lad like Henry can be found in this country who gladly gives his birthday pennies to help the Finns whom he has never seen we are brought face to face with an example of 1940 sacrificial giving. Out of his little store Henry gave all to allay hunger such as he had never felt—the hunger of strangers in a dim and distant land. Money which would have bought candy to satisfy the sweet tooth every child has, or some toy he may have counted on for year-long months. The childish desires of a small boy pushed aside that all his birthday money could go to strangers.

Henry Hille gave much more than eighty cents in his birthday box of pennies for the embattled Finns. He gave a part of himself with his money —the great sympathy of a big heart held in a little body. Henry's sacrificial gift will be multiplied manifold in the days to come for scores of people who hear of the unselfishness of this lad will be eager to match the box of birthday pennies with dollars from their own pockets for the distracted Finnish people.

The outlook of life of a lad like Henry does much to dispel some of the gloomy tales told of the misguided youths we think we know today.
Actually there are fundamental differences between the Good Samaritan parabolized by Jesus, and little Henry Hille. Both are really true ex-ponents of the principle of a "good neighbor", for both went out of their way for a stranger and both emptied their purse to give help to the unfortunate.

KICK STALIN

It is stated in Washington that an attempt may be made in Congress this week to sever diplomatic relations with Moscow. Many Republicans reinforced by a group of Democrats are said to favor recalling our ambassador to the Soviet.

We fail to see any far-reaching benefit springing from such a course at this time. It is true this action would be a slap in the face of Stalin in the eyes of other nations of the world, as it would officially register the widespread American revulsion at the inhuman attack of the Reds upon Finland. But trying to slap Stalin's face would be about as effective for us as pounding our knuckles on a rhinoceros' head—the satisfaction of striking would be counteracted by the pain to us.

It was undeniably a mistake for this Administration to enter into diplomatic relations with the Soviet in the first place. But since that was done in the face of expectations of Red perfidy which has come true, we would be serving no useful purpose to the poor Finns in withdrawing our ambassador from Moscow. At least, our government does have a first hand knowledge of what is going on in Russia today, a knowledge we would lose if there was no official representative in the Red capital. Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly now realizes he acted in too great haste in withdrawing our ambassador from Germany as a rebuke to Hitler when he wished to show the American distaste for Nazi actions. The State Department is not anxious to see this mistake repeated in the case of Russia.

Rather than make this hollow gesture of severing relations with a country which never lived up to promises, it would be better for the government to prod Stalin in another way. If the federal authorities would round up and deport every Red citizen back to the Soviet it would be a far more potent blow at Stalin than recalling our ambassador. And there is ground for doing so without causing a break in diplomatic relations, for the Soviet guaranteed not to engage in any move to spread Red influence in this country—a promise which was quickly broken when official relations began. No, we should not sever relations. We should kick Stalin where it would hurt the worst—kicking out his agents.

When Mr. Roosevelt completes his second term on January 20, 1941, he will be the first president in the history of the United States to serve eight years in office without once bringing the national budget into balance. Between July 1930, and August 31, 1939 the Federal debt increased by almost $23,000,000,000.

INDIRECT TAXES

Spending beyond the capacity to pay has become a deep-rooted habit with politicians from top to bottom. The bad example set by the administration in Washington has been closely followed by our state, our county and our local government as well. On every hand, in every office the style has been set for reckless spending and office-holders have cut the public cloth to that pattern until the goods have run out. Now the politicians are running hither and thither like rats trapped in a burning ship, trying to find new sources of tax money. Having plastered invisible taxes on everything from a cigarette to skyscraper it is taking all the resourcefulness of desperate men to find anything which offers promise of tax returns.

The politicians know there is only one honest way to meet this situation, but being politicians they are avoiding that way. The honest way to meet this tax dilemma is to go completely to the bottom of the trouble with an unpartisan effort to spread the load equitably among those benefited by government. That means cancellation of all the hidden taxes except the gasoline which should be devoted entirely to highway purposes.
Direct taxes should then be broadened until they touched every voter in the country starting with a franchise tax of one dollar, and levying on every income of $500 and up.

Thus broadening the income base to include practically every wage earner might seem an unjust levy, yet actually the cost of government would bear less heavily upon the poor than it does now. For every article we buy is saturated with hidden taxes which pyramid the cost until it is questionable in many cases whether a purchase represents as much merchandise value as it does taxes. This invisible burden is constantly bearing down on the backs of those in the low income groups who know they have a hard time getting along, but do not guess their wages are tolled by nearly twenty-five per cent by government taxes.

Best of all this would make the man in the street tax conscious, and when the man in the street again becomes tax conscious the politicians will start hunting for some useful work by which to make their living. Naturally we shall never see a change from indirect to direct taxation on the masses unless the politicians are forced to change by popular demand, for the politicians do not want the people to become tax conscious.
But every citizen who is interested in good government honestly administered and in public money being economically expended should press their demands for a change.

WAR RAVAGES HERE

Last year fire loss in this country ran to nearly a million dollars a day—the grand total was around $313,000,000. This is a big country and it can carry tremendous debts and losses without being bogged down. But three hundred million dollars is no paltry sum even here, when you think of the lives, jobs and intangible loss involved, for which no insurance can compensate.

Three hundred million dollars would pay a substantial share of our proposed record-breaking naval building program. It would pay for thousands of the costly airplanes now needed by the army. To make a more peaceful comparison, it would build 100,000 homes costing $3,000 each.
Or it would build fine hospitals to care for coun-less thousands of sick people, and ameliorate ghastly suffering.

Last, but not least, is fire's destruction of life.
According to news reports, Finland lost only 258 civilian lives by air raids in the first six weeks of its war with Russia, Great Britain lost only 14 soldiers in the first four months of her war with Germany, whereas the United States loses over 10,000 lives by the ravages of fire alone in an average year, or nearly 200 a week.

Although this nation is blessed with peace, it suffers war ravages from an enemy it can control. It's time to go to war against fire!

UNVEILING THE BUNK

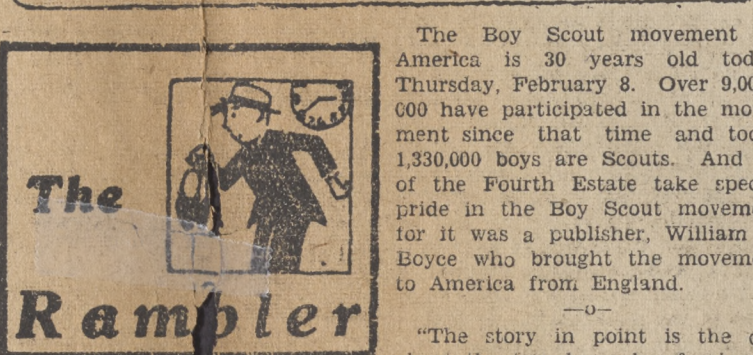

Ten years ago George N. Tidd, head of the American Gas & Electric System, had the courage to say about the electric industry: "We are not community saviors. When we begin to talk to each other and to our customers of our great love for the dear public and the duty and privilege of serving endlessly that it may be well served, we are dangerously close to maudlin sentimentality. . . I would like to see a reaction from . . . back-slapping uplift . . . and plain, unmitigated bunk!"

How many political promoters of government ownership of power have the honesty and courage to say: "We are not community saviors. When we begin to talk to each other and to our constituents of our great love for the dear public, etc. . . , we are dangerously close to maudlin sentimentality. . . I would like to see a reaction from . . . back-slapping uplift . . . and plain,
unmitigated bunk!"

Private industry cannot finance business, pay taxes and serve the public without a profit — it would go broke. Political promoters who promise privileged groups of persons tax-subsidized electricity at "cost", are robbing the general taxpayer and establishing socialism in the United States under the guise of "community saviors", to get votes or appropriations, the profit in politics.

According to J. J. Pelley of the Association of American Railroads, present outlook for the railroads is more encouraging. The level of freight traffic has recently been at the highest point since 1936, and there has also been some improvement in current earnings.

MODERN PIONEERS

Dr. Joseph Savit has been head of a girls' school for 20 years and should know something about women. He recently issued a statement which I think is pretty good.
He says charm is not a matter of clothes, accent or style, it is deeper than that. Some say to acquire charm, which he suggests are: Interest yourself in others instead of interesting them in you, don't monopolize conversation, do not expect constant praise and be liberal and sincere with praise, listen respectfully to opinions of others whether you agree or not, cultivate a skill or be able to do something to entertain or amuse so that you will not just sit and do nothing, and if you are a person is lonely talk to them. Good ideas for men, as well as women, to follow.

Montrose, Pa., a large sized community was in need of a physician one day last week and several were attending a funeral in a nearby community and others were out on calls. This led the Montrose Independent to suggest that physicians in the community should talk the matter over and arrange to have one available at all times. The paper agrees to announce each week the physicians or physician in for calls. An excellent idea for any community.

February has five Thursdays this year for the first time since 1912 and there will not be another until 1968. This means five Advertisers this month.

The Community Calendar is still in operation in this community and from time to time some organization or individual forgets it or does not know about it with the result that conflicts occur. One such incident came to light a few last week and the organization having prior call by virtue of getting on the calendar, gave way to the organization which did not arrange for the date.

I was interested in reading that Sears & Roebuck and Montgomery-Ward between them had $1,000,- 000,000 in business last year, or one-third of the total retail trade in the United States. And they made a comfortable profit on this volume of business. Now, what I have in mind, is the fact that they advertise. They also spent $108 each to print a catalog to put in the hands of prospective buyers. I'm sure local merchants lost some business to help make up that billion dollar volume.

There is a great argument going on up Avoca way relative to the number of protons in the universe.
For your information a proton is an electrified particle, component of the atom. The argument concerns whether there are 15,747,724,133,275, 002,577,605,633,961,160,565,488,304,717,- 914,527,116,709,366,231,425,076,185,631,- 631,296 protons or whether there are some figures as above, plus two.
The smaller figured group feels the universe would be upset by the larger figure.

Dear Rambler:
"There is a story in your column of February 1, which, strange as it may appear to you, is far from respectful to the Church, and utterly unfair to the great body of Christians. The reason for such a sweeping statement lies in the fact that the above-named story presents two wholly false hypotheses in the garb of truth. In other words, it is a wolf in sheep's clothing."

This week all America is celebrating the 30th anniversary of the establishment of the Boy Scout Movement in America. The Movement has its enthusiastic supporters everywhere. Indeed in its three decades nearly 9,000,000 Americans have been Scouts, Cubs and leaders.
Today there are over 1,330,000 boys and men actively enrolled.

Now as never before, American adults are giving their time, en-

WASHINGTON
NEWSFROM CONGRESSMAN
W. STERLING COLE

Sure Sign of Economy

Of the first three appropriation bills which have so far passed the Congress, a total of 128 million dollars has been cut from the amounts recommended by the President's budget. In addition, the agriculture members from the mid-west have apparently given up their fight for farm parity payments which last year amounted to 225 million dollars. It is obvious that the Congress this year realizes the danger of excessive spending and is determined to economize wherever possible. This is the first sign of encouragement the taxpayer has had in many years.

Borah's Seat

A sentimental touch which took place within the past two days is the fact that Senator Vandenberg, aspirant to the Republican nomination for President, has taken over the seat of the Senate Chamber formerly occupied by Senator Borah and likewise the Senator's suite in the office building.

Bricker of Ohio

Speculation on who will be selected by the Republicans at their Convention this year is commonplace talk and the name of the favorite person seems to change frequently. A few days ago, Governor Bricker of Ohio spoke at a dinner of the Ohio State Society here, which is a non-partisan affair, and made such a favorable impression that one hears his name mentioned on every hand as being a man of the character and color necessary to captivate the imagination and confidence of the voting public. Who will be out in front next week nobody knows.

Uncle Sam's Payroll

The United States now employs 932,654 persons in the executive branch of the government which is the highest number of federal employees in the country's history and tops by 14,894 the previous high-water mark of November 11, 1918.
These figures do not include the judicial or legislative branches of the government nor the military or naval forces under the executive branch. Of this number, approximately 400,000 have been added during the past seven years.

Grange vs. Farm Bureau

Representatives of the farming sections who look to the farm organization for leadership now find themselves on a spot in knowing which way to turn in regard to extension of the law authorizing reciprocal trade agreements. Louis J.
Taber, President of the National Grange not only urged that the law be permitted to lapse but asked that existing agreements be ended. On the other hand, Edward A. O'Neal, President of the American Farm Bureau Federation demanded continuance of the program on the ground that it was beneficial to farmers.

The Cost of War Never Ends

The total number of veterans and their dependents now on the pension roll of the Veterans Administration for 1940 is 864,774 and requires an expenditure of $437,174,436. The estimates for 1941 are 875,083 with an expenditure of $442,833,000. There is still one pensioner (a dependent) of the war of 1812, 135 dependents of veterans of the Mexican War, 2,034 veterans and 3,956 dependents of veterans of the Indian Wars, and 1,571 veterans and 45,504 dependents of veterans of the Civil War on the roll.

Steuben County Spuds

It was quite a thrill for me last Saturday when I stopped at the farmers' market to buy a supply of potatoes and bought some which had been grown in Steuben County near Ochoco, N. Y., which is the capital of potato growers in the Southern Tier.

Wallsville—An amateur woodsman yelled "timber" he forgot and also forgot to notch his tree and so down and the community was without power for five hours.

LINCOLN

Early one bright summer morning a few years before the Civil War, a horse and buggy with a lone driver might have been seen rattling along the clay-streaked road some half dozen miles from Springfield, Illinois.

"Whoa, Caesar!"
"How about a ride to Springfield, John? My horse is lame. Can't drive him for awhile."
"Jump in, Dave. Just wishin' I had company, anyhow."

"What's the reason you start so early, John? Allus thought you took afternoons for travelin'."

"Well, I've ben havin' trouble with my neighbor, Sam Henderson. Line fence, and trespassin' and so on.
Same old thing. Mebbe you know Sam. Meanest man in the state.
Anyhow I'm goin' to see a lawyer about it. Get some advice, at least.
Really don't know jest what to do."
"Lots of lawyers in Springfield, John. Who you goin' to git?"
"Well, I don't mind tellin' you, I'm goin' to see Abe Lincoln. You know, Dave, I rather like that feller. I know he looks rather gawky like, but I tell you he's smart. Don't you forget that. You know, Dave, I was down to the big town last fall when he was tryin' a case. The lawyer agin him spoke first. Made a good talk. Can't just remember his name. After he was through, I looked toward Abe's corner. Soon, he stood up. Awful tall man, Dave.
He spoke rather quiet like. We all listened. Someway, one couldn't help it. Seemed 's if my head and heart had a kind of warm feelin'.
Can't explain it. Abe won the case.
Hello! I didn't think we were so near.
Guess I'll tie up right here. Be around when you're ready and I'll take you back, Dave."

Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight in Springfield, Illinois by Vachel Lindsay

It is portentous, and a thing of state That here at midnight, in our little town A mourning figure walks, and will not rest,
Near the old court-house pacing up and down.

A bronzed, lank man! His suit of ancient black A famous high top-hat and plain worn shawl Make him the quaint great figure that men love,
The prairie-lawyer, master of us all.

The sins of all the war-lords burn his heart.
He sees the dreadnaughts securing every main.
He carries on his shawl-wrapped shoulders now
The bitterness, the folly and the pain.
He cannot rest until a spirit-dawn Shall come;—the shining hope of Europe free:
The league of sober folk, the Workers' Earth,
Bringing long peace to Cornwall, Alp and Sea.
It breaks his heart that kings must murder still,
That all his hours of travail here for men Seem yet in vain. And who will bring white peace
That he may sleep upon his hill again?

COMMUNICATION

Not Entitled to Honors Given
Dear Mr. Editor
Addison Advertiser:

I certainly enjoyed reading your article, "Railroad Men Have Own Language About Addison Streets" in your paper of February 1, 1940 by my friend Frank Ginnane.

Well, I just can't claim the title you gave me as a Hog-Head or Speed-Gager, the title which you gave engineers.

I started as a brakeman on the Erie over a quarter century ago and was promoted to conductor in September, 1920.

One starting as a brakeman eventually becomes a conductor and a fireman to an engineer. So you see I never was a Tallow-Pot or Hog-Head.

In fact the modern locomotives of today are all greased by hi-pressure guns and equipped for a 200 or 300 mile run without further attention—no tallow pot required.

The Hog Heads of yesterday are forgotten. The engineers today are educated to their profession, equipped with goggles, prepared for a 60 to 85 miles per hour run.

You forgot to give mention to Edward O. Jackson who has been going back and forth for 25 years or more. I am sure if Ed read your article he felt slighted.

Speaking of railroad language—all railroad men have a standard language given by signals which permits a whole train to be switched about without a word spoken!

A railroad worker after retirement is often spoken of as an old rail.

Very truly yours,

Albert E. Root.

Bellona — Dick Myerick, 7, dislocated two vertebrae in his neck and doctors feared to operate for fear of death. The lad was carefully removed to Strong Memorial Hospital in Rochester and prepared for a most delicate operation. During the night he turned in his sleep and the vertebrae went back into place and Dick went back to school.

Bus Safety Group Meets in A.H.S. Monday Evening

District Superintendent Frank H. Smith and Milton Crane addressed the forty-six persons who attended the first 1940 meeting of the Safety Club at Addison Monday evening. The Safety Club is an organization of school bus drivers from the counties of Steuben, Yates and Chemung. School bus drivers from Corning, Addison and nine other places were present.

Dundee having the largest delegation of eleven drivers, three school board members and the school principal. Clayton Herrington had charge of arrangements, the supper being served by Addison High School seniors.

Harry Potter of Jasper presided at the meeting. Community singing was led by Glenn L. Sprague with Miss Janet Taylor playing the accompaniments to popular songs.

The group was welcomed by Maurice E. Miller, president of the Addison High School Board of Education. At the conclusion of the talks matters of club business were placed before the meeting by T. V. Hoover of Hammondsport, president of the organization.

Superintendent Smith addressed the drivers on the opportunities and responsibilities of their job. He prefaced his remarks by saying: "I do not think the name 'bus driver' is the best which could be applied to you fellows. It reminds me of an automobile mechanic and you have to be far more than that."

"First I wish to speak of contracts," he continued. "I have 50 districts in my supervisory district and 41 of them are contracting for the transportation of children. In making a contract the route has first to be chartered, which is a difficult thing, then the time schedule must be worked out. It is remarkable to me how the bus drivers are getting the children to school on time. There are many country children on the perfect attendance rolls."

"Bus drivers should maintain proper supervision over the children they carry. In these times when it is in vogue there should be no restrictions on children—that they should be allowed to follow their own inclinations—this is difficult. The matter of a bus driver's supervision over children is a matter for study. The trustee has much to say about that—you have to meet many rules and regulations set up by the Motor Vehicle Bureau and I am surprised how you are meeting this."

"Accidents are very few in this state. I have only had one accident to report in my district with 18 buses transporting children to different schools. Your job is so exciting you are really part of the school faculty—you should be sitting with the teachers. You are the ones who have first hand contact with the children when they are really acting like themselves. It is one thing to memorize rules—anxious to act upon them, but I have known of only a few violations of regulations by bus drivers over a period of years."

"Sometimes some husky boys get to scrapping, but this is infrequent and you drivers seem to know what to do in such cases."

"Among the qualifications for a bus driver I would put good physical health first. It is not necessary to be a large man, but you need to have personality and intelligence as well as sympathetic feeling."

"Good moral character is needed and that is implied in the contract. You must have knowledge of the limitations of boys and girls riding with you, then when a situation arises you can deal with it. It is interesting for a driver to study his children, know the bright ones and curb the rowdiness."

"A driver should have a sense of humor. You should be able to laugh with them when something funny comes up. No one should be over children unless they are able to smile. Don't be afraid to laugh."

"A bus driver should have pride in his job. You need a lot of common sense, too. Sometimes it may even be necessary to violate a rule for common sense may be better than the rule. You have to determine that for yourselves."

"There has been much criticism of the cost of transporting children to school. They are trying to make us think there is extravagance. This is not true. You fellows are not getting too much for your job."

Milton Crane stated it was presumptuous of him to speak on safety after what had been said by previous speakers, at other meetings, including the sheriff of the county. "Bus maintenance and operation should meet certain requirements," he said. "Our record in New York State is one to be proud of and it is reflected in a reduction in your insurance rates."

"Your memory about safety rules is often refreshed by the state. Safety should be considered ahead of expediency in laying out a bus route—it is better to go a half-mile farther than to take an unsafe short-cut. You have a double allegiance, allegiance to the school and to the children. Your allegiance to the children should come first. Sacrifice speed for the sake of safety.

"I am glad to know there is now a better spirit of cooperation between highway officials. That is one of the uses of your club to make better relations. In laying out a route allow enough time to cover it without excess speed. Running behind schedule is no excuse for reckless driving—it is better for the children to be late than for the driver to use too much speed."

"One thing your organization might do is to make a study of costs of operation. Then you would individually know much more about how much you would need to operate at a profit. And you are entitled to a profit. A well paid operator who is making a little money is going to be a safer operator."

The speaker concluded with a list of safety rules laid down by the National Safety Council.

F. H. Brentz, principal of Dundee Central School spoke briefly in substance as follows:

"Character education is a real problem. When you are driving over a slippery road with 50 or 55 children behind you for whom you are responsible, there is not much time for character education. But you do have a chance at times to exercise will be interested in the all-wise character education."

"We find most drivers are willing to cooperate in obeying the law, but occasionally someone will pass a standing school bus without stopping. In those cases our drivers take the number of the license and we write into Rochester for the name of the driver. Then we write them a nice letter pointing out their violation and usually they are glad to cooperate in the future."

Those at the meeting in addition to those mentioned were: Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams, Cameron; William McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. August Vona, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Herrington, Addison; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Swan, Tuscarora; Willard; Corning; Mahlon Gridley, Corning; Clifton Milton, Monterey; Edward Davis, Ralph Bullock, Jasper; Theron Cole, Savona; Sebring Howell, George Mace, Clair Buckley, Bradford; Leslie Houck, Hammondsport.

F. F. A. CHAPTER CHATTER

A meeting of the local Future Farmers organization was held Tuesday at 12 o'clock. The meeting was called by President Warren Perkins for the purpose of completing arrangements for the annual trip to Ithaca to attend Farm and Home Week.

It was decided that the trip should be taken Monday as that is a holiday with no school. Hence by taking a trip that day it will not disrupt the schedule of the whole school. Also the first part of the week at Ithaca has been largely given over to the members of the Future Farmer organization. It is expected that about one thousand members of the organization will be present.

It is expected most of the members of the Agriculture classes here will attend Monday. On Wednesday, members of the Agriculture IV classes will attend. At that time a delegates meeting is held, a leadership training session for F. F. A. members and the state Future Farmer meeting are also held.

Each member of the Freshman class in agriculture is expected to attend one lecture on some subject in Agriculture that interests him, while members of the Agriculture III class are to attend two lectures and the members of the Agriculture IV class five lectures. A written and oral report is required of each student for each lecture attended. These reports are made in the week following the Ithaca trip.

The meeting of the out-of-school group of Young Farmers which was held in the Agriculture room in the high school Monday evening was given over to a discussion of Dairy Herd Record Analysis on some local herds led by Robert Drake, Southern Steuben County Dairy Herd Improvement Tester.

The speaker brought out the fact that now all calves, where testing is being done, are ear tagged by the tester. The number of the cow and the sire are registered in Washington and the ear tags inserted by the tester are registered with its parents. In order for a bull to be proved it is necessary that he have a dam and daughter comparison of at least five, the daughter must produce more than their dam in order to prove the bull.

The benefits of continuous testing was brought out by the speaker. As evidence of these benefits it was stated that the average production of all members is about 8,000 pounds as compared with a 5,500 pound production of all cows in this state and a 3,400 pound production in the United States.

After the talk, questions were answered by those present. Joseph Coleman, president had charge of the meeting.

State Budget Proposals Are Outlined in Brief

More protest have been heard over the proposed budget of Governor Herbert H. Lehman than has ever been heard in the history of the state according to veteran observers throughout the state. The objections arise over the fact that $15,000,000 is to be added to the personal income tax in the state, that increases are being made in salaries at a time when there is so much unemployment and the fact that building programs are being setup at a time when building for private purposes or for industry is being curtailed.

Just what are some of the factors in this budget which is creating such a furor and which has caused the executive department to have two days for hearings to enable all to be heard in the matter heretofore one day was sufficient.

The program for the fiscal year of 1941 asks for $396,796,608.50. And with the sum asked for, there is now a deficit from the previous year of $32,871,336 and the proposed deficit at the close of the 1941 year would be $14,807,819.83.

The budget is broken down into two sections, that which deals with financial assistance given to communities in the form of various state aids and the actual cost of state government.

According to the meeting, Hamburgers and coffee were served by Paul Richtmyer and Thomas Reagan.

President Coleman appointed Lyle Johnson and Thomas Lyons as a food committee for the next meeting. Basketball was played after the feed.

Members of the Agriculture classes have been attending the two sessions on "feeding" and "meeting problems of hay and pastures for 1940" which have been held in the Town Hall under direction of the Steuben County Farm Bureau.

Lectures have been given by Bradley Gormel, an extension specialist in Animal Husbandry at the New York State College of Agriculture and Professor Van Alstine also specialist in the agronomy department of the College.

The lectures have dealt with the necessity of having good cows and the necessity of feeding the cows large amounts of good quality roughage, which is usually the cheapest source of total digestible nutrients per dollar.

Some crops which can be grown as emergency hay crops, the fertilization of old meadows and the improvement of pastures are other topics which received considerable attention.

the budget, unemployment relief uses 20.8 of every dollar, state aid 36.8, and for cost of state government, capital outlays, 5.7 cents, current expenses, 29.2 and debt service, exclusive of relief bonds, 7.5.

State aid is for schools, aged and orphans, highways, health and housing, relief for home relief reimbursements and debt service on relief bonds. Current expenses are legislative and judiciary, state departments, institutions, schools and colleges, parks, canals and public buildings and general charges.

Second Highest The proposed budget is the highest since 1938 when it was $401,000,000 and the present budget is second highest in the history of the state. According to the figures in the Governor's message the actual cost of state government is to be only $138,341,574.22 or 35 cents of each appropriation dollar. This provides for the increasing state wards in hospitals, maintenance of state schools and colleges and other items above mentioned. It includes $22 million plus for highways, hospitals, reformatories, prisons etc., $12.2 millions for blind war veterans, grants to libraries, fairs, pension funds, compensation insurance and other needs. Under this heading also comes increases of $2.7 millions for capital outlays, $2.1 millions for care of increased state wards, $1.4 millions for statutory salary increases.

There are 51 institutions in the state for hospitalization, schooling reformatories and prisons with an expected population of 110,000. For the past 10 years the population has been increasing at the rate of 3,000 annually.

A further breakdown of the budget shows expenditures as follows: Executive, governor's office, $117,010; divisions of budget, state planning, military and naval affairs, state police, alcoholic beverage control and housing, $7,054,296.80; law, $1,039,710; audit and control, $1,016,075; agriculture and markets, $1,456,180; banking, $1,030,320; civil service, $346,300; conservation, $3,073,898; correction, $319,350; education, $3,217,346.11; health, $2,842,222; insurance, $1,117,145; labor, $4,023,111; mental hygiene, $349,292; public service, $1,387,536; public works, $6,726,026; social welfare, $472,292; state, $731,704; taxation, and finance, $4,681,582; miscellaneous, $191,000; legislature, $2,344,421; judiciary, $4,169,070.

Among things provided in the executive unit are 32 additional preceptors at $36,000; traveling expenses, $78,000; salary raises $25,000; 17 new positions in parole department, county armories needs $91-

000; Conservation Department needs, $21,000 for suppression of gypsy moth, $30,000 for rent; salary increases, $25,000; Long Island Park $57,000 increase and $70,000 for Niagara Frontier Park; additional $34,000 for Saratoga Springs and $13,000 increase in maintenance of historic sites.

Labor department needs are: Salary increases of $103,000; additional $75,000 for administration of minimum wage law for women in industry and an additional allowance of $62,000 for Labor Relations Board.

The state hopes to realize $4 million on the pari-mutuel betting during the period. Under the proposed increase in income tax, from which $15 million is expected, according to the budget the sums will be taken from the small taxpayers with incomes from $3,000 upwards and the maximum tax on any person, $145.

An analysis of the budget shows there is an increase of $991,655 in the executive department on a total expenditure of $8,023,306, and increase of $385,649 for audit and control in a total sum of $7,406,100; decrease of $515,414 in legislative expenditures in a sum of $2,344,421; increase of $1,059,872 in correction department in a $11 total and other increases in most departments to total $4,976,982 for the grand total.

Expected revenues include $395,310,000 from special taxes under existing statutes, revenues under proposed statutes $19 million, including new income tax and pari-mutuel income and $2 million from lapse in appropriations of this year making a total income of $432,620,740 with some special fund incomes from parks, armories, conservation funds and military records of $3,400,693 making a total income of $436,021,433. Special taxes alluded to are corporation, utilities, franchise, bank, corporation organization, personal income, insurance, inheritance, stock transfer sales, mortgage, motor vehicle, motor fuel, cigarette, alcoholic beverage, milk, boxing exhibition, motion picture, racing, arrears, tax sales etc.

Specific recommendations are being asked by Democratic groups as to where the budget can be cut. It is expected that the legislative chambers will be packed Monday by various groups seeking lower taxes and various other groups seeking preferred projects and increased sums in parts of the budget. The hearings will begin Monday and continue until Tuesday, after which the Governor and Legislators will rediscuss the budget in all its phases.

Knights Defeat Canisteo— Win 'B' League

Garrison finish here Friday night brings another loving cup for trophy case — Jayvees lose in overtime period—Westfield here Tuesday.

The Knights won their second consecutive "B" League basketball championship here Friday night in a nip and tuck game which ended with Addison on the long end of a 28 to 26 score. Canisteo led at the half way mark to the tune of 10 to 8 and then Addison got "hot" and the boys started shooting from several corners of the court and piled up 14 points in the third period. The teams shot even on fouls, both making six points of nine tries. The locals were the best in field goals with 11 to 10 for the visitors.

The crowd was the largest and most enthusiastic of the season. In fact the enthusiasm was so great in this game that Coach Miller for the Knights, who has had his share of close games this season, became over enthusiastic and had to be calmed down by the referee. Coach explained he should be used to this close game business and quite calm about it, but was carried away by the closeness of Friday's battle, especially in view of the fact it meant a championship for the Knights.

However, Addison will not be eligible to play in the playoffs as the team has a larger registration than permitted for "B" schools and as last year another team will have the honor of playing in the playoffs. However, Addison will have the silver loving cup for the championship.

While the varsity was pulling a tough game out of the fire, led by Hargrave, who has been playing consistent ball throughout the season as he went on a rampage and scored nine points for the Knights. He was the spark of the team on the offensive playing.

The Jayvees dropped a heart-breaker in an overtime period. They were 12 up on the visitors at

Knights Lose To Arkport

Arkport took the measure of the Knights in a close game Tuesday night on their home court. The final score was 26 to 27, being one of the usually close games played by the Knights this season. Olds and Hargrave tied for high scoring honors with nine points each with goals, four to three. Thomson, husky center for the Knights was in second scoring place with two field goals and three fouls.

The Knights led 10 to 8 at the first period, and 15 to 14 at the halfway mark. The winners took the lead in the third stanza and were on top 25 to 19 at that period and maintained that lead, though a threatened rally by Addison nearly cost the Arkport squad the game.

The Jayvees won their encounter by a substantial score, leading at the close of the contest 22 to 11. Whitmore, center for the Seconds was the sparkplug of the winners with eight points with Kizer in second place with six points.

"American Boy" Sells For $2.00 Per Year

Through failure on the part of the publishers of the magazine "The American Boy" to send a change of copy for their advertisement, the Addison Advertiser has been mistakenly carrying an ad giving the yearly rate of this publication for boys as $1.50.

The Wildrick Subscription Agency has brought to our attention the fact that "The American Boy" raised its yearly subscription price to $2.00 on December 10. We regret that the printing of this incorrect rate of $1.50 has inconvenienced the Wildrick Agency and wish to assure those customers who have subscribed to "The American Boy" through the Wildrick Agency that it merely charged the correct rate in asking $2.00 for the magazine.

THE THINGS MEN DO— LIVE AFTER THEM

The passing of Asa T. Smith has created a deep sense of lasting personal loss in all who were associated with him. But, providentially, Mr. Smith had made arrangements to have the Funeral Establishment of H. P. Smith and Son carried on under the management of Jeffrey Smith who has been closely associated with him in the Funeral Work for the past six years. It will be the aim of those who carry on to give the same kind thought and deep consideration to the people of this community as the firm of H. P. Smith and Son have rendered during their forty-nine years of service.

A LOT LOWER PRICED THAN MOST PEOPLE THINK!

HERE'S WHY SO MANY THINK PONTIAC HIGHER PRICED THAN IT ACTUALLY IS!

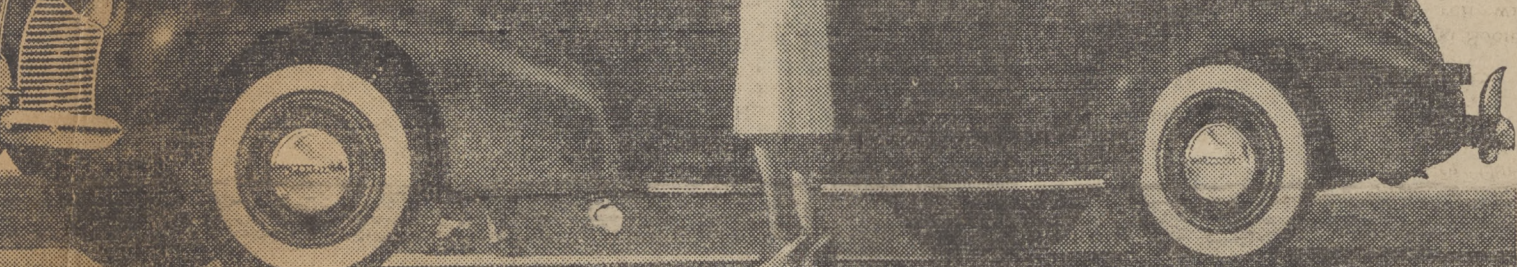

IT IS DIFFICULT to make people realize that Pontiac is priced just a few dollars above the lowest. They simply haven't been accustomed to associating low price with a car that has the reputation, looks, size, luxury and performance of cars costing up to several hundred dollars higher. Come in and take a look at this sensational new money's worth of motor car. See how much bigger and roomier it is. And don't leave without trying its new "Triple-Cushioned" ride and the flashing performance of its power-packed Pontiac engine. For the best ride on four wheels and the best miles of your life, get a 1940 Pontiac!

Illustrating the Special Six 4-Door Touring Sedan $876*

Do you get car weary on long trips? Get a Pontiac and relax. Pontiac's "Triple-Cushioned" ride is worth all the slight difference between Pontiac and lowest-priced cars.

Ever wish your car were larger? Pay a few extra dollars and get a Pontiac. It's wider-seated, wider-shouldered with Hi-Test Safety Plate Glass in all sections.

You only have to go to the first traffic light to sample the thrill performance in Pontiac's thrill-packed engine.
